

Post Reply

Page 1 of 2 1 2 Next →

GAMING

Community

OFF-TOPIC

Community

Los Angeles Times: 2015's 10 best video games stretch from 'Cibele' to 'Tomb Raider'

View First Unread

Subscribe

Tripon

Member (12-12-2015, 09:01 PM)

Quote

Los Angeles Times: 2015's 10 best video games stretch from 'Cibele' to 'Tomb Raider'

#1

http://www.latimes.com/entertainment...213-story.html

1. Cibele
2. Her Story
3. Life is Strange
4. Rise of the Tomb Raider
5. Ori and the Blind Forest
6. Sunset
7. Splatoon
8. Prune
9. Volume
10. Super Mario Maker

Lowlight: Battlefield Hardline

Coffee Dog

formerly known as Echoenigma (12-12-2015, 09:05 PM)

Quote

the only times we talk about stuff like Cibele and Prune are when they get nominated on these lists.

#2

Edit: also, hardline as lowlight is pretty lolworthy considering some of the other games released this year

Kuro-Law

Member (12-12-2015, 09:09 PM)

Quote

Bloodborne snubbed again. List is cool for having splatoon and ori.

#3

Tinfoilhatsron

Member (12-12-2015, 09:10 PM)

Quote

Originally Posted by Kuro-Law

Bloodborne snubbed again. List is cool for having splatoon and ori.

#4

Bloodborne is subbed everytime.

Zader

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 09:11 PM)

+ Quote

Terrible list as expected. Splatoon, Ori and SMM are welcome additions though. The rest belong nowhere near a top ten list except maybe Rise of the tomb raider

#5

J-Tier

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:13 PM)

+ Quote

Is this just the writer's opinion? It seems to be the case, though I'm not in a good position to read the article in its entirety.

#6

Dance Inferno

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:13 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Kuro-Law >
Bloodborne snubbed again.
List is cool for having splatoon and ori.

Can we stop with this in every GOTY thread? Not everyone needs to put Bloodborne in their top 10 games. It's a subjective list based on an individual's taste.

#7

Vice

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:14 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by J-Tier >
Is this just the writer's opinion? It seems to be the case, though I'm not in a good position to read the article in its entirety.

Yeah, in the second pragraphe explains His reasonong.

The bulk of my favorite games of the year allowed me to explore the world from unexpected points of view — a teenager with unexplainable powers, a dying tree struggling to come to life or a woman losing her virginity.

Originally Posted by Coffee Dog >
the only times we talk about stuff like Cibele and Prune are when they get nominated on these lists.

#8

Edit: also, hardline as lowlight is pretty lolworthy considering some of the other games released this year

His reasoning has to do with how strange a shooter about police killing people is considering some big news stories of the recent year. If you work with people who write about them all the time seeing a game say that police shooting are fun could be weird.

Last edited by Vice; 12-12-2015 at 09:19 PM.

Kuro-Law

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:15 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Tinfoilhatsron

Bloodborne is subbed everytime.

Originally Posted by Dance Inferno

Can we stop with this in every GOTY thread? Not everyone needs to put Bloodborne in their top 10 games. It's a subjective list based on an individual's taste.

Thatsthejoke.gif

#9

zsynqx

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:15 PM)

+ Quote

So happy Life is Strange is getting so much recognition.

#10

JoseLopez

Banned
(12-12-2015, 09:15 PM)

+ Quote

Who cares

#11

tuxfool

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:18 PM)

+ Quote

It is an interesting list. I think it is great that a major publication's GOTY list isn't some homogenous replica of the same games you'll find in many more lists.

#12

Originally Posted by JoseLopez

Who cares

Why do you care about who cares?

J-Tier

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:18 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Vice

Yeah, in the second pragraphhe explains His reasonong.

Cool, list makes sense then. I thought it was some kind of critic consensus or reader poll.

#13

Tripon

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:20 PM)

+ Quote

I'm surprised Sunset is making people's list. That game is bad just on a playable point.

#14

Collingwood

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:20 PM)

+ Quote

Tomb Raider and Ori are there. List checks out.

#15

Dartastic

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:23 PM)

+ Quote

I mean, I thought Cibele was interesting and all, but it doesn't really belong anywhere near a "best" games list. If there was a list for most interesting, or experimental, or something along those lines it certainly deserves to be way near the top. However, there really isn't much "game" there. It's still good and I suggest playing it, but it's nowhere near the best game of the year.

#16

jesu

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:26 PM)

+ Quote

Wait no it stretches from Cibele to Super Mario Maker.

#17

Sorcerer Supreme

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:27 PM)

+ Quote

That's a bad list

#18

JimJamJones

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:34 PM)

+ Quote

Cibele? Really? That's the game you chose?

#19

Oddduck

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:34 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by zsynqx

So happy Life is Strange is getting so much recognition.

#20

Same here.

threelights

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:34 PM)

+ Quote

Still happy to see Her Story there, still happy that the game didn't pass by completely unnoticed.

#21

Cels

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:37 PM)

+ Quote

the first time i heard of sunset was when the developer posted a blog saying it was a failure.

#22

<http://tale-of-tales.com/Sunset/blog...-the-sun-sets/>

sonicmj1

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:38 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by jesu

Wait no it stretches from Cibele to Super Mario Maker.

#23

The actual headline is more correct: "2015's 10 best video games stretch from 'Cibele' to 'Rise of the Tomb Raider' to 'Super Mario Maker' "

Half the games on the list have female protagonists, which is a neat trend.

Grisby

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:39 PM)

+ Quote

Never even heard of some of those games. It's really cool to see that happen though.

#24

And LIS is cleaning up.

Originally Posted by Collingwood

Tomb Raider and Ori are there. List checks out.

Trruuue.

mreddie

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:39 PM)

+ Quote

No Until Dawn? It's the first game in a while that actually isn't the usual AAA game.

#25

kurahador

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:46 PM)

+ Quote

Cibele.....

Guess the writer cares more about intention than execution.

Last edited by kurahador; 12-12-2015 at 09:49 PM.

#26

SolidSnakex

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:47 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Tripon >

I'm surprised Sunset is making people's list. That game is bad just on a playable point.

I'd never even heard of the game until the developers of it went on one of the most bizarre meltdowns i've ever seen in the industry

#27

Auriea & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Perfect. Goodbye, gamers! May you die in the same agony that you caused to thousands of defenceless virtual creatures.

Auriea & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Hahaha. I'm so free. Look at me. I can say FUCK GAMES! FUCK GAMERS! FUCK THE GAME INDUSTRY! DIE! DIE!DIE! And rot in hell! 😏

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 2m
Wow, you say FUCK GAMES once in a conversation and suddenly your BLOCK finger starts hurting.

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 48m
We don't need commercial failure to know capitalism is evil, right? Because it is: evil. And if you think that's cool then you are evil too.

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 19h
YOU are all the best people!

It's the others, those not here, who are EVIL and WRONG.

Thank you for the support!

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 19h
If you'd like to learn more about the sick system that forced us out of games, you can force Michaël to speak: patreon.com/MichaelSamyn

But I ended up reading a number of articles on it after that and it sounds like a complete mess made by developers that are absolutely convinced they're making art. The controls are messy and the game is a technically broken. One article pointed out how his PC could run The Witcher 3 just fine while Sunset struggled to run on it.

Ryuga

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:53 PM)

Quote

Interesting. This is certainly a list of games.

#28

Blobbers

Miyazaki is fully directing Dark Souls 3 and taking from Dark Souls 2
(12-12-2015, 09:53 PM)

Quote

Was Cibele literally made in Paint?

#29

Servbot24

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:55 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by JoseLopez >

Who cares

#30

Everyone who posts in this thread including you.

TheSpoiler

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:58 PM)

+ Quote

Conceptually, Sunset was alright, but the execution, from the heavy handed story and asshole sniffing air to the terribly optimized experience and ability to sit in the elevator the whole time and skip actually performing the tasks laid ahead of you made it not worth the effort.

#31

Hoje0308

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 09:58 PM)

+ Quote

Man, BF:H has been getting shit on all year. It certainly wasn't my thing, but didn't it run well day one?

#32

Originally Posted by JoseLopez >

Who cares

You clicked on the thread and took the time to comment, so...you?

Turin Turambar

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:59 PM)

+ Quote

The thing with Sunset, from what I know, it's that even the people who usually like these types of games didn't like it a lot.

#33

JudgmentJay

Member
(12-12-2015, 09:59 PM)

+ Quote

Well, Ori and the Blind Forest makes sense, but I can't say I agree with the 9 other video games on that list. Haven't played Tomb Raider yet though.

#34

The fact that Prune is now on two GotY lists blows my mind. It's an incredibly shallow time-waster, nothing more.

Denton

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 10:02 PM)

+ Quote

#35

Originally Posted by SolidSnakex

I'd never even heard of the game until the developers of it went on one of the most bizarre meltdowns i've ever seen in the industry

Auriea & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Perfect. Goodbye, gamers! May you die in the same agony that you caused to thousands of defenceless virtual creatures.

Auriea & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Hahaha. I'm so free. Look at me. I can say FUCK GAMES! FUCK GAMERS! FUCK THE GAME INDUSTRY! DIE! DIE!DIE! And rot in hell! 😄

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 2m
Wow, you say FUCK GAMES once in a conversation and suddenly your BLOCK finger starts hurting.

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 15h
YOU are all the best people!

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 45m
We don't need commercial failure to know capitalism is evil, right? Because it is: evil. And if you think that's cool then you are evil too.

It's the others, those not here, who are EVIL and WRONG.

Thank you for the support!

Auriea & Michaël @taleoftales · 15h
If you'd like to learn more about the sick system that forced us out of games, you can force Michaël to speak: patreon.com/MichaelSamyn

But I ended up reading a number of articles on it after that and it sounds like a complete mess made by developers that are absolutely convinced they're making art. The controls are messy and the game is a technically broken. One article pointed out how his PC could run The Witcher 3 just fine while Sunset struggled to run on it.

Wow. Just...wow.

As for the list...if you are going to do "hipster: the list", at least put Life is Strange to number one, dammit :p

John Kowalski

Charmin San Potato
(12-12-2015, 10:03 PM)

+ Quote

#36

NO BLOODBORNE???

sora87

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:04 PM)

+ Quote

#37

Oh dear.

Reebot

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:06 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Dance Inferno

Can we stop with this in every GOTY thread? Not everyone needs to put Bloodborne in their top 10 games. It's a subjective list based on an individual's taste.

Bloodborne is objectively the best game of the year. Only a beast would disagree.

#38

Persona7

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:08 PM)

+ Quote

I haven't played Sunset, Prune, Volume or Tomb Raider but that list is pretty close to mine.

#39

Trickster

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:13 PM)

+ Quote

Okay then, taste is subjective afterall. Author clearly has weird as taste if that's their top 10 games of 2015 though.

#40

AcademicSaucer

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:24 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by SolidSnakex

I'd never even heard of the game until the developers of it went on one of the most bizarre meltdowns i've ever seen in the industry

#41

Auria & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Perfect. Goodbye, gamers! May you die in the same agony that you caused to thousands of defenceless virtual creatures.

Auria & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Hahaha. I'm so free. Look at me. I can say FUCK GAMES! FUCK GAMERS! FUCK THE GAME INDUSTRY! DIE! DIE!DIE! And rot in hell! 😏

But I ended up reading a number of articles on it after that and it sounds like a complete mess made by developers that are absolutely convinced they're making art. The controls are messy and the game is a technically broken. One article pointed out how his PC could run The Witcher 3 just fine while Sunset struggled to run on it.

wow, thats amazing.

iRAWRasaurus

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:26 PM)

+ Quote

Personally I only heard of 6 of those games..

#42

neogaffer1

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:26 PM)

+ Quote

Life is Strange makes this a good list

edit: didn't giant bomb do a quick look on sunset after the studio went under? seemed mediocre--the premise was a bit odd and it didn't seem to do much with that premise to really justify its existence.

#43

tim.mbp

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:31 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by SolidSnakex

I'd never even heard of the game until the developers of it went on one of the most bizarre meltdowns i've ever seen in the industry.

They get constant shit from GG crazies.

#44

EleventhHourSuperpower

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:37 PM)

+ Quote

No Bloodborne, therefore it's a good list. Would be a wasted spot.

#45

entrement

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:38 PM)

+ Quote

Thank you for not using spoiler tags.

#46

Baron von Loathsome

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:39 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Turin Turambar

The thing with Sunset, from what I know, it's that even the people who usually like these types of games didn't like it a lot.

It seemed interesting, but it ran like shit on my computer.

#47

John Kowalski

Charmin San Potato
(12-12-2015, 10:39 PM)

+ Quote

honestly nina deserves it just for the tshirt she wore to GBs extra life

#48

ItIsOkBro

Member
(12-12-2015, 10:40 PM)

+ Quote

The struggle was real to try and get Tomb Raider in the title

#49

Taruranto

<3 BioWare <3
(12-12-2015, 10:48 PM)

+ Quote

The only thing I know about Cibele is that it's apparently like 2 hours long and people were buying it and getting a refund 2 hours later.

#50

Fun stuff.

J_Viper

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 10:58 PM)

+ Quote

There were certainly games released this year that were worse than Hardline.

#51

Always great to see LiS get some love. That game deserves every bit of it.

Tagyhag

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:04 PM)

+ Quote

You'd think with the author's reasoning as to why certain games are there, Undertale would have made the cut. Oh well.

#52 lotsofotherstuff

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 11:15 PM)

+ Quote

I need to get around to play Her Story. Everything I see of it make it seem like it is a game I would love. #53

And super happy Life is Strange got a mention. My favorite game this year.

UnemployedVillain

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:17 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Kuro-Law

Thatsthejoke.gif

Lol you think they're joking

Golgo 13

Banned
(12-12-2015, 11:28 PM)

+ Quote

Piss-poor list written by someone with a sub-sophomoric understand of interactive entertainment. Seriously with these fucking lists by people like Time, LA Times. You never cared about video games before, and now you release these lists like you're an authority on the subject. #55

Next up, I'm getting my 8 year old daughter to write "10 Most profound films of the 20th century" and posting it in The New York Times. Hell, even that would carry more weight.

Tripin

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:28 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Golgo 13

Piss-poor list written by someone with a sub-sophomoric understand of interactive entertainment. Seriously with these fucking lists by people like Time, LA Times. You never cared about video games before, and now you release these lists like you're an authority on the subject.

Next up, I'm getting my 8 year old daughter to write "Most profound films of the 20th century" and posting it in The New York Times. Hell, even that would carry more weight.

You sound mad.

Golgo 13

Banned
(12-12-2015, 11:30 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Tripin

You sound mad.

You're quite observant.

Eman Resu

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 11:31 PM)

+ Quote

wtf is cibebe #58

Yopis

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:31 PM)

Trash list they tried hard to out think the room. #59

+ Quote

Zaventem
Member
(12-12-2015, 11:33 PM)

+ Quote

#60

Originally Posted by Sorcerer Supreme >

That's a bad list

This is a full blown meme list, I don't think i've heard anyone discussing Cibele as GOTY material anywhere even if it is a good game.

A Link to the Snitch
Snitch
(12-12-2015, 11:34 PM)

+ Quote

#61

Originally Posted by Golgo 13 >

Piss-poor list written by someone with a sub-sophomoric understand of interactive entertainment. Seriously with these fucking lists by people like Time, LA Times. You never cared about video games before, and now you release these lists like you're an authority on the subject.

Next up, I'm getting my 8 year old daughter to write "10 Most profound films of the 20th century" and posting it in The New York Times. Hell, even that would carry more weight.

ok

Tye The Czar
Member
(12-12-2015, 11:36 PM)

+ Quote

#62

Originally Posted by Dance Inferno >

Can we stop with this in every GOTY thread? Not everyone needs to put Bloodborne in their top 10 games. It's a subjective list based on an individual's taste.

NO! We must totally strive for objectivity in game reviews. Any dissenting opinion deserves death threats, or else, dirty feminist boogeywomen and the Evil Kotaku will ruin gaming!

WordsintheWater
Member
(12-12-2015, 11:37 PM)

+ Quote

#63

Originally Posted by zsynqx >

So happy Life is Strange is getting so much recognition.

I have it on my PS4 haven't dove in yet, how good is it?

Hugstable
Member
(12-12-2015, 11:40 PM)

+ Quote

#64

Originally Posted by WordsintheWater >

I have it on my PS4 haven't dove in yet, how good is it?

Play it now, just beat it like 3 days ago and it was really really good

KraytarJ

#65

Junior Member
(12-12-2015, 11:41 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by WordsintheWater ▶

I have it on my PS4 haven't dove in yet, how good is it?

It's incredibly good. Arguably the 2 best female characters, and maybe new characters overall, from this year and a very interesting story. My biggest surprise of the year and honestly I'm leaning towards it being my goty. You owe it to yourself to at least give it a chance, especially if you already own it.

WordsintheWater

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:42 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Hugstable ▶

Play it now, just beat it like 3 days ago and it was really really good

All these games like Fallout 4 and Rainbow Six have been keeping me away from it. I have a feeling once I start it I won't be able to stop because I love story driven games and it seems like this is one of those. Gonna play it tonight.

Originally Posted by KraytarJ ▶

It's incredibly good. Arguably the 2 best female characters, and maybe new characters overall, from this year and a very interesting story. My biggest surprise of the year and honestly I'm leaning towards it being my goty. You owe it to yourself to at least give it a chance, especially if you already own it.

Oh man, now I am itching to play it. Thanks guys.

#66

Hugstable

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:44 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by WordsintheWater ▶

All these games like Fallout 4 and Rainbow Six have been keeping me away from it. I have a feeling once I start it I won't be able to stop because I love story driven games and it seems like this is one of those. Gonna play it tonight.

Oh man, now I am itching to play it. Thanks guys.

Yeah it's not super long, the first 2 chapters seem to go by really quick and the final 3 seem to be more meaty story wise. I think I took around 14-15 hours to complete. It definitely was a nice break between all the Open World games I've been trying to play recently.

It was probably the biggest surprise for me this year. I didn't think the story was gonna be about what it is about, I went into it thinking it was just gonna be some kids in high school/college slice of life stuff, and it was anything but haha.

Originally Posted by Golgo 13 ▶

Piss-poor list written by someone with a sub-sophomoric understand of interactive entertainment. Seriously with these fucking lists by people like Time, LA Times. You never cared about video games before, and now you release these lists like you're an authority on the subject.

Next up, I'm getting my 8 year old daughter to write "10 Most profound films of the 20th century" and posting it in The New York Times. Hell, even that would carry more weight.

This post is terrible. They don't need to be some damn pros to talk about games and what they enjoyed this year. And authority on the subject? Aren't they just making a list for their own newspaper/website? Why all the anger?

#67

petethepanda

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:45 PM)

+ Quote

Always happy to see these lists used to get eyes on lesser-known games. Way more interesting than the usual perfunctory lists of the same ten AAA games swapped around.

It's awesome that Splatoon has been getting a lot of attention. Really wondered if it'd be one of those games to disappear after a month.

#68

Leafhopper

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:45 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Golgo 13

Piss-poor list written by someone with a sub-sophomoric understand of interactive entertainment. Seriously with these fucking lists by people like Time, LA Times. You never cared about video games before, and now you release these lists like you're an authority on the subject.

Next up, I'm getting my 8 year old daughter to write "10 Most profound films of the 20th century" and posting it in The New York Times. Hell, even that would carry more weight.

LoL.

#69

phanphare

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:46 PM)

+ Quote

ahhhhh Splatoon

love that this game is getting some year-end recognition. fantastic game.

#70

UrbanRats

Member
(12-12-2015, 11:53 PM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by SolidSnakex

I'd never even heard of the game until the developers of it went on one of the most bizarre meltdowns i've ever seen in the industry

Auriea & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Perfect. Goodbye, gamers! May you die in the same agony that you caused to thousands of defenceless virtual creatures.

Auriea & Michaël
@taleoftales

Follow

@jeroendstout Hahaha. I'm so free. Look at me. I can say FUCK GAMES! FUCK GAMERS! FUCK THE GAME INDUSTRY! DIE! DIE!DIE! And rot in hell! 😏

Reply Retweet Favorite Add Comment More

#71

But I ended up reading a number of articles on it after that and it sounds like a complete mess made by developers that are absolutely convinced they're making art. The controls are messy and the game is a technically broken. One article pointed out how his PC could run The Witcher 3 just fine while Sunset struggled to run on it.

Anyone can have a bad day.
Twitter just makes that day unforgettable.

d00d3n

Member
(Yesterday, 12:00 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Golgo 13

Piss-poor list written by someone with a sub-sophomoric understand of interactive entertainment. Seriously with these fucking lists by people like Time, LA Times. You never cared about video games before, and now you release these lists like you're an authority on the subject.

Next up, I'm getting my 8 year old daughter to write "10 Most profound films of the 20th century" and posting it in The New York Times. Hell, even that would carry more weight.

I agree in spirit, but had to retract my enthusiastic response considering your ban.

Seriously, though, would anyone on gaf recommend that winning title?

#72

Kinyou

Member
(Yesterday, 12:00 AM)

+ Quote

Seems a bit weird to not explain his picks a bit more in depth.

"Hey here is my Goty, you probably never heard of it. K, bye."

#73

charlequin

Loving Husband. Caring Admin. Secret Octopus.
(Yesterday, 12:02 AM)

+ Quote

Just FYI I will delete any post after this with the word "Bloodborne" in it regardless of the other content. Please talk about the list that's actually here, and if at all possible try to inform it by reading the article and commenting on why you disagree.

Originally Posted by JudgmentJay

The fact that Prune is now on two GotY lists blows my mind. It's an incredibly shallow time-waster, nothing more.

It's exceedingly gorgeous aesthetically and has a very clever gameplay conceit. When you play it you find yourself having to engage with a type of gameplay that isn't really present anywhere else, and thus thinking about things in a new way.

Personally I don't feel like they did everything they could with the idea and it probably needed a bit more refinement, but it's a cool game.

Originally Posted by kurahador

#74

Guess the writer cares more about intention than execution.

That's probably a fair criticism. Cibele and Sunset are both games that try for pretty ambitious and unique things, and which (by broad consensus) don't really pull them off. From a critic's perspective it makes sense to reward games that try something daring, but I certainly would give more credit to final implementation than that.

Originally Posted by Tagyhag

You'd think with the author's reasoning as to why certain games are there, Undertale would have made the cut. Oh well.

Undertale is so tightly wrapped up in the gaming medium that it's hard to recommend effectively to a mass audience. The level of medium history and context you need to fully appreciate it is great enough that I wouldn't expect to see it on general-audience lists as often.

Corpekata

Member
(Yesterday, 12:05 AM)

+ Quote

#75

Originally Posted by Kinyou

Seems a bit weird to not explain his picks a bit more in depth.

"Hey here is my Goty, you probably never heard of it. K, bye."

Most of the ones he doesn't talk about much have links to his review about the game.

mario_o

Member
(Yesterday, 12:05 AM)

+ Quote

#76

First time I hear about Cibele.

timetokill

I call 'em "death hugs"
(Yesterday, 12:08 AM)

+ Quote

#77

Originally Posted by John Kowalski

honestly nina deserves it just for the tshirt she wore to GBs extra life

Oh shit, I missed that, what did she wear?

Nina has ... interesting fashion taste. I don't mean that in a bad way! I like it.

charlequin

Loving Husband. Caring Admin. Secret Octopus.
(Yesterday, 12:12 AM)

+ Quote

#78

Originally Posted by d00d3n

Seriously, though, would anyone on gaf recommend that winning title?

Maybe not, but that's a concrete topic of disagreement. It's pretty easy to say "well, it seems like people agree that game doesn't accomplish what it sets out to" or even "what that game tries to do is dumb" and disagree with the list that way.

Making it into some ludicrous rant about mainstream publications covering games, however, is not useful. Todd Martens has been covering games for years, and assuredly plays more of them than many posters on NeoGAF. Maybe his taste is crappy, but he's certainly not someone without an "understanding of interactive entertainment."

MattKeil

BIGTIME TV MOGUL #2

#79

I like several of his picks, and it's nice to see Life is Strange getting love from all sides, but if your

(Yesterday, 12:21 AM)

+ Quote

top 10 of 2015 doesn't include The Witcher 3, I cannot take your top 10 seriously.

d00d3n

Member

(Yesterday, 12:27 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by charlequin

Maybe not, but that's a concrete topic of disagreement. It's pretty easy to say "well, it seems like people agree that game doesn't accomplish what it sets out to" or even "what that game tries to do is dumb" and disagree with the list that way.

Making it into some ludicrous rant about mainstream publications covering games, however, is not useful. Todd Martens has been covering games for years, and assuredly plays more of them than many posters on NeoGAF. Maybe his taste is crappy, but he's certainly not someone without an "understanding of interactive entertainment."

#80

That I have to agree with, I guess.

yanipheonu

Member

(Yesterday, 12:30 AM)

+ Quote

I'm not going to lie, the prevalence of Rise of the Tomb Raider on these mainstream lists is a little eyebrow raising.

#81

blue_phazon

Member

(Yesterday, 12:34 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by yanipheonu

I'm not going to lie, the prevalence of Rise of the Tomb Raider on these mainstream lists is a little eyebrow raising.

#82

Why?

It was pretty well reviewed, and people's impressions are really positive in the OT on gaf

potatohead

Member

(Yesterday, 12:34 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by yanipheonu

I'm not going to lie, the prevalence of Rise of the Tomb Raider on these mainstream lists is a little eyebrow raising.

#83

Tomb Raider only became good when people bought it for exclusivity.

EthanC

Member

(Yesterday, 12:34 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by yanipheonu

I'm not going to lie, the prevalence of Rise of the Tomb Raider on these mainstream lists is a little eyebrow raising.

#84

It's my personal GOTY. No check needed. Enjoy your conspiracy theory.

domlolz

Member

(Yesterday, 12:36 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by J-Tier

Is this just the writer's opinion? It seems to be the case, though I'm not in a good position to read the article in its entirety.

#85

this may come as a shock but most lists are the authors opinions. unless its a poll or something.

Piston Hyundai

Member
(Yesterday, 12:40 AM)

+ Quote

Seems like the only reason to pick Hardline as the low point of the year was how it fits into the current political climate. Then again, judging by some of the games on that list (as well as their placement), I think the criteria overall seems to favor the ideas a game presents as opposed to how well it actually executes them.

#86

Opinions are entirely subjective and all that, I know, but I can't imagine someone thinking that Battlefield Hardline is a worse game overall than the likes of Tony Hawk's Pro Skater 5 and Afro Samurai 2.

J-Tier

Member
(Yesterday, 12:43 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by domlolz

this may come as a shock but most lists are the authors opinions. unless its a poll or something.

#87

Indeed, I am shocked.

patapuf

Member
(Yesterday, 12:47 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by yanipheonu

I'm not going to lie, the prevalence of Rise of the Tomb Raider on these mainstream lists is a little eyebrow raising.

#88

Tomb raider reviewed pretty well iirc. It's also an acessible game that isn't too long.

Feedback on GAF and other forums is positive as well.

I don't really see what's "eyebrow raising" about it being on a list. Seems like a decent game. It's maybe the most "been there done that" game on a list that seems to favour vision for something new.

Vice

Member
(Yesterday, 12:50 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by d00d3n

I agree in spirit, but had to retract my enthusiastic response considering your ban.

Seriously, though, would anyone on gaf recommend that winning title?

#89

Sure, it's an intersting two hour experience. Not everything good has to have a lot of mechanical depth or narrative complexity to be worth playing.

It's good to see non-gaming focused outlets caring about games. Hopefully it will provide a wider platform for games and introduce people to something outside of big titles like CoD, Madden and Fallout.

rokkorkory

Member
(Yesterday, 12:51 AM)

+ Quote

Pretty cool list tbh

#90

chekhonte

Member
(Yesterday, 12:52 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Kuro-Law >
Bloodborne snubbed again.
List is cool for having splatoon and ori.

We all know that game critics are filthy casuals.

#91

JudgmentJay

Member
(Yesterday, 12:56 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by charlequin >
It's exceedingly gorgeous aesthetically and has a very clever gameplay conceit. When you play it you find yourself having to engage with a type of gameplay that isn't really present anywhere else, and thus thinking about things in a new way.

Its aesthetic is nice, but I'm not sure I'd go so far as to call it gorgeous. Ori and the Blind Forest is gorgeous. "Pleasant" is a word I'd use to describe Prune's aesthetic. That said, I played it for about 20 minutes on a friend's phone and that was enough for me. I haven't given the game a second thought since I played it. While its gameplay might be unique, that didn't stop it from being a shallow, forgettable, and ultimately throw-away experience to me.

#92

Dr.Acula

Member
(Yesterday, 12:59 AM)

+ Quote

sigh Square-Enix's blockbuster, Life is Strange, getting all the accolades while indie Witcher 3 is ignored.

kidding/not kidding

#93

fhqwhgads

Member
(Yesterday, 01:03 AM)

+ Quote

The one thing I'm consistently impressed by is Splatoon getting so much recognition. I was fearing that when it comes to Wii U games this year Mario Maker would hog all the glory but I've been happily surprised by the amount of praise Splatoon has received.

#94

Dabanton

Member
(Yesterday, 01:04 AM)

+ Quote

As a nice accompaniment, I would recommend this article from the same author. That kind of goes along with his list.

Games in 2015 were better when they stepped away from the guns

#95

SolidSnakex

#96

Member
(Yesterday, 01:11 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Dabanton

As a nice accompaniment, I would recommend this article from the same author. That kind of goes along with his list.

Games in 2015 were better when they stepped away from the guns

When games, in fact, resorted to using guns, their pace slowed. "Metal Gear Solid V: The Phantom Pain" often makes shootouts the least desirable option

It's a stealth series at heart, shootouts are supposed to be the least desirable option.

The Technomancer
card-carrying scientist
(Yesterday, 01:15 AM)

+ Quote

I always appreciate lists like these that highlight some of the less traditionally lauded sorts of games from the year

#97

mnz
Member
(Yesterday, 01:19 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by Turin Turambar

The thing with Sunset, from what I know, it's that even the people who usually like these types of games didn't like it a lot.

Yeah, it looks terrible.
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=T9F6nBAWpwo>

I don't understand.

#98

Tyreese Victoria
Junior Member
(Yesterday, 01:31 AM)

+ Quote

Originally Posted by JudgmentJay

Well, Ori and the Blind Forest makes sense, but I can't say I agree with the 9 other video games on that list. Haven't played Tomb Raider yet though.

The fact that Prune is now on two GotY lists blows my mind. It's an incredibly shallow time-waster, nothing more.

Playing Prune is the closest I've come to having a religious experience.

I'm not religious.

#99

Scott667
Junior Member
(Yesterday, 01:34 AM)

+ Quote

As a person who has appreciated the new wave of indie games exploring new themes, I like seeing so many get recognition.

#100

However, I'm a little confused as to how 'Her Story' has received as much praise as it has, and wanted to know if someone who has enjoyed it could explain the appeal. I thought it was going to a character study, but that failed for me because [redacted]. The acting and writing being sub-par [redacted] didn't help either.

Maybe there is a new perspective that could help me appreciate the game more? But for now I'm just left confused whenever I see it appear on all these lists.

Last edited by Scott667; Yesterday at 01:57 AM.

GAMING

Community

OFF-TOPIC

Community

TOP

Post Reply

Page 1 of 2

1

2

Next →

All times are GMT +1. The time now is 04:35 PM. | You last visited: 09-30-2015 at 11:15 AM

Contact Us